

I do not feel that XM or any other satellite service should be stopped from bringing it's customers up to date "locally oriented" information such as weather conditions and traffic reports. I travel 4-5 days a week in my vehicle and depend on XM for up to the minute information without having to fumble thru hundreds of AM or FM stations trying to find the same information. XM Satellite makes it faster and easier without driver distraction.Thanks,
David Simpson